1-30 Completion Focuses Attention on My. Trust Fund

Monday's pictures of the opening of the last unfinished section of Interstate 30—Emmet to Prescott—ought to remind southwest Arkansians that the agency which made 1-30 possible is the Highway Trust Fund, and should further remind them that this supposedly safe federal escrow of gasoline tax money is in deep political trouble.

The Highway Trust Fund was established to handle an extra federal tax on gasoline—now 4 cents a gallon—under a specific pledge never to use this money for anything except highway construction and maintenance. That is to say, you formerly paid 7 1/2 cents a gallon in state tax and now pay a total tax of 11 1/2 cents because of the extra 4-cent federal charge.

But now that the Interstate System is approaching completion all over America the money-thirsty politicians of the big cities are doing their utmost to break the government's solemn pledge to the taxpayers that the Highway Trust Fund won't be robbed for non-highway purposes. The threat is real—and no further away than the new Congress which convenes next year.

In this year's Congress the big-town politicians put pressure on President Nixon to back a bill robbing the Highway Trust Fund of $800 million to aid commuter rail and bus lines. Fortunately it just missed becoming law. That this robbery effort will reappear in 1973 is certain—and under ominous circumstances.

Nixon's landslide victory Nov. 7 in which he carried 49 of our 50 states gives him, as the big-city leaders will say, a mandate to do something handsome for the metropolitan centers—such as spending gasoline tax money to help commuters get to their jobs on more railroad trains.

But those of us who don't live near metropolitan centers need to remind the President and the Congress that his real mandate is to deal justly with all the people and to uphold the sacred word of government—which means that the Highway Trust Fund can't be used for anything except road-building.

If you understand the workings of government you know that practically all legislation is the result of pressure by well-organized lobbies—and the frightening thing about the attempted raid against the Highway Trust Fund is that the raid is sponsored by metropolitan officials and their Congressmen . . . while the payers of gasoline taxes have no single lobby to protect their interests and make the government live up to its pledged word.

It's going to take a tremendous ground swell of public indignation and great pressure on non-metropolitan Congressmen to head off this steal in 1973.

While the Interstate System is nearly complete the Trust Fund is vital for continued maintenance work.

As local drivers know, our own Interstate 30 has already developed severe bumps in the pavement near Gurdon, and bumps are now appearing in the section between Fulton and Texarkana. This may be inevitable in a highway which carries 1-30's heavy traffic. If so, it's a measure by which to judge the upkeep cost of the entire Interstate System—a formidable financial load for the greatest trust fund imaginable.

Furthermore, the Trust Fund was designed, with completion of Interstate, to help build lesser parts of America's road system.

But this will be gone with the wind if the Trust Fund is to be robbed by the big-city politicians.

And, gone with the same wind will be the people's confidence in government's solemn word.

Lenore finds a 'home'

MIAMI (AP) — "Baby Lenore belongs to God and we intend to take good care of her for Him," vowed the adoptive mother of the 2 1/2-year-old toddler after winning a widely publicized custody fight which went all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Jean De Martino and her husband, Nicholas, held an emotion-charged news conference Monday after the high court refused to hear an appeal from Lenore's natural mother, Olga Scarpetta.

"We intend to provide her (Lenore) with all the necessities, most importantly, love," said De Martino, who gave up a Brooklyn law practice and fled to Miami with his family in April 1971 after New York courts ruled they had to return Lenore to her natural mother.

"We hope she grows up to be an independent and self-providing individual, happy and well educated," Mrs. De Martino added.

The Supreme Court ended the two-state custody fight when it refused to hear an appeal by Miss Scarpetta, who had asked that a Florida appeals court ruling granting custody of the child to the De Martinos be overturned.

Miss Scarpetta went to New York from her native Colombia to give birth to the baby on May 19, 1970. She turned the child over to a public adoption agency four days later, but changed her mind after a month and asked that Lenore be returned.

After winning the ensuing court battle in New York, Miss Scarpetta followed the De Martinos to Florida to resume the custody fight.

Britton admits 'cuffing' an inmate

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Supt. Robert G. Britton of Tucker Intermediate Reformatory acknowledged Monday he had violated the state Correction Department's policy of prohibiting use of force against inmates except in self-defense.

Those who violate the policy are subject to dismissal. Britton said he did not report the incident his superior.

Britton testified in U. S. District Court here in a hearing before Judge J. Smith Henley on whether court-ordered improvements in living conditions at the prison were being carried out.

He said that the incident concerning the policy violation occurred Christmas Eve, when he struck Johnny Cox, an inmate who had just been captured after overstaying a three-day furlough from Tucker.

Britton said he was not present when Cox was captured, but that he heard shots and ran to the scene. When he arrived, he said Cox was face down on the ground and was being handcuffed.

The superintendent said he crouched over Cox and Cox tried to get up. Britton said he then "cuffed him once — maybe twice" on the shoulder with the side of his open hand.

Asked if he was acting in self-defense, Britton said he did not know what his feeling was at the time.

John Burrow of McCrory, a former farm manager at Tucker, testified he saw Britton strike Cox "several times" on the head just after the inmate's capture. Burrow, who said he resigned from the farm staff in January because of the incident, testified that Cox's hands were handcuffed behind his back when Britton delivered the blows.

Britton acknowledged another incident in which two inmates had been hospitalized after being beaten with shotgun butts. He said one prison official had been fired in connection with the incident, another had resigned, and two more had been disciplined. He said that incident occurred Feb. 25 while he was away from the farm.

Britton said the incident occurred when the two inmates, Eddie Bettis and Danny Hays attempted to escape about 9 p.m. by climbing out a window. He said prison officials had learned of the plan and were waiting outside with shotguns.

Several shots were fired, Britton said, but neither prisoner was hit. Both were hospitalized, however — Bettis with a broken jaw and Hays with multiple bruises and a ruptured eardrum. Britton said an investigation revealed that the injuries were inflicted with shotgun butts.

In response to questioning, Britton testified that on Aug. 1, two inmates who had attempted to escape from the fields were made to run barefoot from the fields to the farm barracks area with their hands in shackles.

Britton also testified that the names of Tucker inmates who attended Black Muslim religious services were turned over to the FBI.

Five governors backing ouster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Declaring the Democratic party needs a "new sense of direction" if it is to win back defectors, five leading Democratic governors have called on party chairman Jean Westwood to resign.

Their call Monday came as both the public and private campaigns moved into high gear to oust the woman chosen by defeated standard bearer George McGovern.

"When you don't win a national election, it's time to reappraise the leadership of the party," said Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel.

Florida Gov. Reubin Askew agreed, saying the party must be reunited and adding, "No personal offense toward Mrs. Westwood at all. I just happen to believe she is not the person who can do that."

Arkansas Gov. Dale Bumpers, chairman of the Democratic Governors Caucus and spokesman for its executive committee which met Monday, said their recommendation will be presented to the full caucus at its Dec. 3 meeting in St. Louis.

Also present at the meeting were Govs. Kenneth Curtis of Maine and Wendell Anderson of Minnesota. Utah Gov. Calvin Rampton, the sixth member of the executive committee, was in Hawaii, Bumpers said.

Among those often mentioned by the dump-Westwood forces for the chairmanship are former party Treasurer Robert Strauss of Texas, New York state Democratic Chairman Joseph Crangle, and Mrs. Westwood's predecessor, Lawrence F. O'Brien.

Mrs. Westwood, a Utah milk rancher turned political organizer, was said by her office to be vacationing with her husband in Florida Monday. She could not be reached for comment.

Last Thursday, when the anti-Westwood move was mostly underground, she told a news conference she intended to remain on the job.

She was picked for the post by McGovern last July after he won his party's presidential nomination.

Many of Mrs. Westwood's opponents feel she is too closely associated with McGovern and party reforms initiated by him to be effective.

While the governors were meeting in a local motel, aides to at least one Democratic senator were calling members of the Democratic National Committee to enlist their support for the anti-Westwood drive.

Delay is requested

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, V.I. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern, the defeated Democratic presidential nominee, urged his party today to delay a decision about replacing Jean Westwood as its national chairman.

Five Democratic governors, meeting in Washington, have called on Mrs. Westwood to resign on grounds that the party needs a "new sense of direction." Mrs. Westwood was chosen by McGovern to be national chairman.

Names of Muslim inmates given to FBI

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Robert Britton, superintendent of Tucker Intermediate Reformatory, told U. S. District Court here Monday that the names of Muslim inmates who attended Black Muslim religious services were turned over to the FBI.

The hearing before U. S. District Court Judge J. Smith Henley is to determine whether court-ordered improvements in living conditions at the prison were being carried out.

Britton said inmates attending the Black Muslim meetings were asked to sign a register, but that no list was made of inmates who attended other religious services.

When asked why the list was kept, Britton first declined to answer, then said, "I don't think it needs to be known."

Henley called a short recess for Britton to consult with attorney Ted Boswell of Bryant, who is representing the Board of Correction and prison personnel in the proceedings.

Afterward, Philip E. Kaplan, attorney for the inmates, introduced as evidence lists of inmates attending services of Sept. 11 and Sept. 28.

Britton said the lists were mailed to the FBI office in Pine Bluff, which had requested the information.

Kaplan said the attitude of prison authorities seemed to be that the Black Muslims "must somehow be stamped out."

In addition to the alleged discrimination against Black Muslims, Monday's proceedings concerned two incidents of alleged violence against inmates by prison authorities.

They were the alleged beatings of Johnny Cox, an inmate who escaped in December 1971, and of two other inmates, Danny Hodge and Eddie Bettis, who attempted to escape from Tucker on Feb. 25.

Kaplan said that Monday's testimony would be about conditions at Tucker and that testimony about Cummins Prison Farm would consume at least an additional two days.

The judge said last September he would conduct the hearing because of "a constant stream of complaints" from inmates indicating that ordered corrections were not being carried out.

Henley ruled Feb. 18, 1970, the state prison system was being operated unconstitutionally. Henley's decision was upheld May 6, 1971, by the 8th U. S. Circuit Court.

Henley retained jurisdiction and the current hearing is considered a continuation of earlier proceedings.

Will there be a camp next year?

By MRS. HASKELL JONES
Special to the Star

Last August Hope's municipal bus pulled out of the First Baptist parking lot with nine young people filled with curiosity, expectations — and some fear. These special children ranged in age from 12 to 48 years. Yes, "children" is an apt word, for although their age is advanced, nature has dictated that their minds have not developed beyond that of a child.

A number of these children had never been separated from their families for a night, and this was to be a whole week away at a camp especially designed for them.

We can't ignore the apprehensive faces of some parents saying goodbye for a first time and each harboring some fear for the welfare of the child who had never left their sight. "How will my child fare at Camp Parron? Is it really a good idea that I release him this way?" they seem to be asking.

That was Aug. 13. Now, turn the calendar forward to Aug. 19, and the same bus returns from Camp Parron, with the group. All the children were very tired, but filled with enthusiasm concerning the seven-day trip. We heard such expressions as "I'm going back next year!" "I'm going if they're going to have the same counselors!" "My friend is going to write to me!" "We swam every day, had a movie, and played shuffle board," or "I can hardly wait till next year!"

The truth is there may not be a next year for Camp

Parron.

The well-organized camp has been operated for four years by the Arkansas Association for Retarded Children and has reached proportions in attendance that it has become a great financial burden, and the state association needs help to continue.

The state association, with the aid of the Kennedy Foundation, also conducts the Retarded Children's State Olympics, a popular event with retarded children across the state, who because of mental or physical defects are excluded from any such type of exercise and competition elsewhere.

The Hempstead County Association for Retarded Children, in an effort to help the state association, will conduct a fund drive in Hope on Saturday, Nov. 18. Volunteer workers will be on the streets with canisters asking for contributions. If you can find time to assist as a volunteer, contact Mrs. William H. Morgan, drive chairman, 777-5303. If you wish to contribute by check before that time, send your contribution to Drive Chairman Mrs. Haskell Jones, 777-4463, or co-chairman Mrs. Raymond Pine, 777-4410, or George Smith Jr., 777-3158.

These children may not be able to understand that you, the citizens of Hope, helped to save their precious summer activities, but they will wonder why their brief eight days of fun was snatched away so quickly next summer if there are no special "olympics" and no Camp Parron in August.

New trial request is expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawyers for Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo are expected to ask for a new jury now that the Supreme Court has cleared a roadblock from the resumption of their criminal trial over publication of the Pentagon Papers.

But trial Judge Matt Byrne of Los Angeles could decide to keep the jury he sent home back in August. Either way there could be some legal risks involved.

The delay, ordered in July by Justice William O. Douglas, apparently is the longest in the course of a jury trial in the United States. It was prompted by a quarrel over government wiretapping and whether the wiretap logs should be turned over to the defense.

The court, by a 7-2 vote Monday, closed the issue for the time being by denying a hearing to Ellsberg and Russo. Justice Douglas and William J. Brennan Jr. dissented.

The next move is up to Byrne. He is expected to summon lawyers for both sides to his chambers late this week and start the prosecution rolling again.

Ellsberg and Russo have been charged with espionage, conspiracy and misuse of government property in the publication of the once-secret study of the origins of the Vietnam war.

Although Byrne cautioned the 12 jurors and six alternates that they should not discuss the trial with anyone, defense lawyers probably will argue that outside influences are impossible to screen out during more than three months.

The defense already has offered to waive the constitutional protection against double jeopardy if the judge impanels a new jury. That is, Ellsberg and Russo would give up their chance of claiming in a subsequent appeal that they actually were tried twice for the same crime in violation of the Fifth Amendment.

Nevertheless, the presiding judge may conclude the best thing to do is to keep the old jury.

The Supreme Court rejected the appeal without any comment on the wiretap question and others raised by the defendants.

The government has acknowledged that one of the 16 members of the defense's legal team was overheard by government wiretappers. Ellsberg and Russo argued they have a right to see the logs to judge for themselves whether the eavesdropping produced any leads or evidence for the prosecution.

500 strikes are reported in Indochina

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. fighter bombers and B-52 Stratofortresses hit wide areas of Indochina Monday and today, flying about 500 strikes on both sides of the demilitarized zone, in Laos and in Cambodia to blunt the North Vietnamese supply buildup in anticipation of a cease-fire.

Below the DMZ, the South Vietnamese command said, nearly 700 rounds of artillery, rocket and mortar fire hit government troops operating north and south of Quang Tri City and south of Hue, and several firefights broke out. At least 32 North Vietnamese troops were killed, while government casualties were five killed and 34 wounded, the Saigon command reported.

U.S. Navy jets roared in from their carriers off the coast to support the South Vietnamese troops in one battle nine miles southwest of Quang Tri City.

The U.S. Command reported 230 fighter-bomber strikes in the southern half of North Vietnam and another 171 in the northern provinces of South Vietnam. Bombing in the Hanoi-Haiphong region and the rest of North Vietnam north of the 36th parallel has been halted to improve the atmosphere for cease fire negotiations.

Shadow cast on state law

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today barred small-town mayors from sitting as judges when the fines collected upon conviction are a major source of village revenues.

The 7 to 2 decision in a traffic case from Monroeville, Ohio, will have an impact in 17 states with laws authorizing such dual roles.

Justice William J. Brennan Jr. delivered the majority opinion, which drew dissenting votes from Justices Byron R. White and William H. Rehnquist.

Weems to 'clear air'

LITTLE ROCK, AP — Pros. Atty. Gen. Sam Weems of Des Arc said Monday he plans to "clear the air" about the dismissal of embelishment charges against a former Lonoke County tax collector.

Weems, criticized by members of the state Legislative Joint Auditing Committee for his dismissal of charges against Mrs. Floyd Abbott, said he would subpoena Legislative Auditor Orvel M. Johnson to meet him next Tuesday in Stuttgart.

He said Johnson would be directed to bring with him all records dealing with the case and any member of his staff who had helped with the audit.

Mrs. Abbott was charged in January 1971 with embelmenting $58,735 from the Lonoke County tax collector's office. The charge resulted from an audit by the LCAO. Weems said bonding companies had paid eight years of back taxes.

Helmsman denies charges

A Brunswick River drawbridge. The accusation was made Monday at a Coast Guard hearing by Frank Stanejko, 49, of Bridgeport, Conn. Ten persons were killed when the ship knocked part of the bridge and several cars into the stream's swift tidal waters.

Helmsman Darling Carroll Woodall of Marsumville, Va., made his rebuttal in a written deposition submitted at the opening session of a three-day hearing.

Stanejko said Woodall evidently misunderstood a river pilot's order and made a steering error that sent the ship into a span of the bridge. He said Woodall steered right instead of left.

Ships leaving a berth in Brunswick must make a tight, complicated left turn to pass through the open span to pass to the Atlantic.

The captain's testimony was supported in substance by river pilot Edwin R. Fending Jr. of St. Simons Island. The pilot, who navigates vessels into open water, said everything was going well until the ship's rudder indicator suddenly pointed to the right instead of the left.

Neither the pilot nor the captain, however, could testify that they saw Woodall make a steering error.

"I don't, except for the error on the part of the quartermaster—the helmsman—I don't think the ship would have been in any difficulty at all, and we would have gone through the center span and down the river with no difficulty," said the captain.

"The entire accident hinged on the wrong application of rudder," he said. "It was a human error, and there wasn't room to correct it on the quartermaster's part."

Woodall testified that he was called to the ship's bridge to replace a drunken helmsman only a few minutes after the ship left dock.

"My last command, just prior to the accident, was hard right," said the seaman. "I repeated each one of these commands as they were given me, loud and clear, and applied those commands to the wheel."

Fending had denied under repeated questioning that he ever gave such a command that would have allowed the ship to smash into the bridge to the right of the open center span.

Woodall said that his relief of the original helmsman caused a considerable amount of confusion on the ship's bridge.

"The ship itself, I felt, was in a very precarious position," he said. "I could feel that the ship was in danger."

Woodall's lawyers said they would attempt to prove the ship left its berth at an excessive rate of speed and was out of control at the point that the relief helmsman took the wheel.

Air piracy subject of FAA concern

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration has started an intensive investigation of procedures to combat air piracy in the wake of the weekend hijack of a Southern Airways jet.

Most officials aren't talking about why current safeguards failed to thwart the three men who commandeered the DC9 over Alabama Friday night and held 31 passengers and crew members captive for a 3,000-mile, 20-hour nightmare.

But one FAA security specialist said privately, "We are not yet sure as to why the hijackers and their weapons were not detected in the pre-boarding check."

Asst. Transportation Secretary Benjamin O. Davis said Monday night the FAA had told him the three men were selected for special screening as they prepared to board the plane at the Birmingham, Ala., airport.

Southern Airways employees pulled the three from among other passengers because they fit the FAA hijacker profile, Davis said the FAA told him.

The three men were allowed to board after undergoing a special electronic check, he said. There was no immediate explanation why the men's weapons failed to show up in the screening.

Neither the FAA nor the FBI would comment publicly on the antihijack procedures. The Air Line Pilots Association, which usually voices strong protests following a hijacking, declined comment until officials conferred with the DC9 crew.

Any alteration of the antihijack procedures will depend on the outcome of the study, FAA security specialists said Monday.

The hijacking Friday was the 31st this year in the United States and the 10th considered successful.

It is not known precisely what security measures were in effect at Birmingham Friday night when the three men hijacked the jet on a circuitous route that eventually took them to Cuba with an unknown amount of ransom money.

Southern Airways officials have refused to say what sort of metal detection device was in use, and there have been conflicting reports about whether any was in use at all.

Hijackers wanted to see Castro

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The three men who hijacked a Southern Airways jetliner offered some of their ransom money in an attempt to get Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro to come to their aid, says a man who was aboard the pirated plane.

"They kept asking for Castro to come talk to them," said Luther Waller Jr., referring to the first time the hijacked DC9 arrived at the Havana airport.

But Waller said Monday it was his impression that Cuban officials refused to negotiate and offered only to "see that justice is done" if the three would give themselves up to Cuban authorities.

The Montgomery resident said his impressions were gathered from listening to the hijackers' conversations and from word he picked up second-hand in the cabin of the plane. He said he could not directly hear the attempted negotiations which he said went on between the plane's cockpit and the Havana airport landing tower.

An atomic pacemaker installed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Denny Furr, 22, of Centerville (Yell County) has become the third person in the country to have an atomic-powered pacemaker implanted in the heart.

Dr. Doyle Williams, 37, of the University of Arkansas Medical Center here, is the third surgeon in the nation licensed by the Atomic Energy Commission to handle the atomic device.

Furr suffers from a congenital heart blockage that impairs his heartbeat and he has received four conventional pacemakers in the last 10 years.

Hopefully, this will end the necessity of surgically replacing the conventional, battery-powered pulse generator every two or three years, Williams said Monday.

Williams said Furr should be discharged within a few days, but will be required to return to the center every three months for evaluation.

Williams said there was no danger to either the patient or other individuals unless the atomic capsule should come open. He said that prior to receiving AEC approval for use in patients, the units were subjected to numerous crash tests, including being dropped from an airplane.

By Oswald & James Jacoby
South's bidding was very good indeed. Once his partner jumped from two spades to four spades it became evident to South that the grand slam would be there if North held both the king and queen of spades and South's grand slam force was designed to find out if North held those cards.

North's jump to seven spades was right out of the book. He did hold two of the three top honors.

South's play was not up to his bidding. He took one look at dummy and relaxed.

Then he won the heart in his own hand and led a trump to dummy's queen.

East showed out and the relaxing was over. At least the happy relaxing was over. South's grand slam had departed to that bourn of space and time from which there is no returning.

South was unlucky to find all four missing trumps in one hand, but he had made a "nothing" play in trumps and had been well punished for it.

If East held all four trumps there would have been no way to make the grand slam but South could have guarded against all four trumps in the West hand by playing his ace of spades first.

After East showed out South would have been able to lead through West's jack-10 twice; pick up the suit and all the marbles.

Mrs. Walters addressess Hope B & PW Club

When the Hope B & PW Club met at Perry's Restaurant in Perrytown on Thursday, Nov. 9, program chairman, Alice Walters, discussed "New Items in Our Platform" from the October issue of "National Business Woman," and Belle Klipsch discussed an article from the same magazine, "On the Human Environment." Then, Mrs. Walters challenged the members with the Club Collect.

The meeting was opened with Jewell McCain leading the Collect.
President Charlene Wiggins was in charge of the business meeting, and Secretary Mickey Becherer read the minutes while Opal Daniel gave a lengthy treasurer's report pertaining to the expenses of the recent district convention held here. She also reported that the birthday money collected at the November Finance committee chairman, Velora Bright, stated that the next project, a spaghetti supper, would be held some time after Christmas.

Capule sisters were revealed and new names drawn. The meeting was closed by singing the emblem benediction. The Dec. 14 meeting will be the Christmas party under the direction of all committee chairmen. Gifts will be exchanged.

Sam Andrews, a special guest at the meeting, presented to the club a record of the Club's achievements during the presidency of his late wife, Mary Andrews, who served from 1960 until 1971.

The club acknowledged commendations read by Margie Vickers on the successful district conference hosted in Hope and on the election of the Hope President, Charlene Wiggins, as district director. Virginia Homer, B&PW Week chairman, reported 119 Hope citizens attended the B&PW coffee.

A Pitch for Hitchhiking
HELEN AND SUE:
Why is it that hitchhiking in the U.S. is condemned as dangerous or belittled as freeloading when in Europe it's encouraged?

Do you suppose it's the "image"? In Europe, where I traveled by thumb all summer, I was considered an interesting college girl seeing the world on a shoestring. There were one or two "invitations," but very civilized and proper.

Yet here in America, a girl hitchhiker is fair game. If she says "No," she might be either dumped in the middle of the desert or, as in a few well publicized instances, dumped AFTERWARDS. Most people rate her lower class "trash," with morals to match. And a lot of people won't pick up hitchhikers of either sex because they're afraid of being robbed or murdered.

Why don't we adopt the Polish system? There, hitchhikers are given coupon books after they are checked and found "safe." A fellow or girl waving a coupon book gets a lift quite easily, because they are no threat and also because motorists earn coupons for giving rides. They turn in coupons periodically and prizes are given to holders of lucky numbers. This system was started by University of Warsaw students after World War II because of a shortage of cars, and it's still popular.

What with exhaust fume pollution and overcrowded highways, you'd think the U.S. would encourage hitching as a way of keeping beat-up jalopies off the road. Maybe willing motorists could be issued coupons too, or carry clearance signs in their windows... so the kids would know THEY were safe.

But he went too far when he added that Eve got so excited over having a navel of her very own that she kicked up her heels and got them both kicked out of Eden. Of course he didn't mention Adam has something to do with that too.

He should just remember that God created man, stepped back and said, "I can do better than that," then created woman. —MS.

Shover Springs Homemakers study landscaping

The Shover Springs Extension Homemakers Club met Nov. 9 in the home of Mrs. Jimmy Guilliams. Mrs. Charles Burch, president, opened the meeting, and the members sang "Clementine." The president read the Thought of the Month, "Enjoy your life without comparing it with others." Mrs. Guilliams gave the devotion.

Mrs. Darrell Dillon taught the lesson, "Lady Beware." The roll call was answered with "My suggestion for safeguard measures for protection." Mrs. Bob Dillard gave a leader's report on building and remodeling bathrooms and also discussed landscaping. Mrs.

Burch gave information about elderly people and confidence rackets.

Mrs. Gene Dillard carried out the duties of secretary-treasurer. Three new members welcomed into the club were Mrs. Hoyt Townsend, Mrs. Robert Tye, Jr., and Mrs. W.H. Baker. Mrs. Tom Matchett read a poem, "Old Friend," and the menu for the Christmas party was planned. The meeting was closed by all reading the Homemaker's Prayer.

Mrs. Homer Poindexter, Mrs. Grady Dillard, and Mrs. A.M. Hewitt received Secret Pal gifts, and Mrs. Burch won the door prize. Cold drinks, coffee, pecan pie and Bohemian coffee cake were served to 14 members, one guest, Wanda Baker, and three children.

Injuries plague Texas Longhorns

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Injuries were the talk of the Texas and Texas Christian football camps Monday as they prepared for Saturday's important Southwest Conference title in Fort Worth in which the Longhorns can clinch their fifth consecutive title.

Texas Coach Darrell Royal was concerned about All-American offensive tackle Jerry Sismore who suffered what X-rays revealed to be only a sprained ankle in the Horns 17-3 victory over Baylor.

"The side of his foot looks like my (black) shoe," Royal said. "Jerry's limping real bad. He can't walk. It's the kind of injury that usually takes two to three weeks to heal. We might be lucky if he's ready for Texas A&M."

Halfback Don Burriak underwent successful surgery to repair his damaged right knee and will be lost for six months. Don Ealey and Mike Bayer suffered injured shoulders and may see only limited action against TCU.

In Fort Worth, Coach Billy Toff said that senior defensive tackle Ken Steel would probably be lost for the season. Steel injured a knee in Saturday's 31-7 victory over Texas Tech.

"This is a blow to our defense and to Ken," Toff said. He promoted 250-pound sophomore Tommy Van Wart of Garland to the first unit.

"Van Wart has seen a lot of action," Toff said. "He started against Tulsa and has been our top defensive reserve. He's not exactly like a baby in there."

Owls would rather face Hogs than coach Conover

HOUSTON (AP) — It was the kind of pre-game pep talk that would have done Knute Rockne justice.

Rice's vigorous, impulsive new head coach Al Conover didn't like what he saw in the warmups prior to last Saturday's game against Arkansas.

He returned to the dressing room, pointed out that Rice must "throw a fit" to beat the Hogs and demonstrated his point by heaving a chair through a convenient window.

The Owls went out and shocked the pre-season Southwest Conference favorites 23-20 and Owl middle linebacker Rodrigo Barnes testified Monday that the chair-throwing incident had a lot to do with it.

"Basically, I think everyone on the team just wanted to get out of the dressing room," Barnes said. "It really excited a lot of our guys. We got out on the field and looked at Coach Conover and at Arkansas and we decided we'd rather face Arkansas."

Conover couldn't explain the incident but said he looked in the eyes of his players before the game and didn't see any

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The situation appeared bleak for Prescott in the Class A football playoffs when tailback Terry Spearman suffered a broken leg. Then, along came Jerry Flemons.

Flemons, a 5-foot-9, 140-pound junior, was moved from slotback to tailback in Prescott's 1 formation and responded with 463 yards rushing in four games.

His best performance came last week when he carried 20 times for 206 yards and scored on runs of one, 22 and 64 yards as the Curley Wolves whipped Little Rock Robinson 39-14 in the first round of the playoffs.

For his play, Flemons was chosen High School Player of the Week by The Associated Press.

Prescott Coach Charles Montgomery says Flemons got most of his yardage outside before being moved to tailback.

"Now, he hits all positions on either side of the line," Montgomery said. "He picks his own hole. We have a designed place for it to open up, but it may open up somewhere else. He does a real fine job of picking his hole. He's a pretty gutsy little rascal."

Flemons has had five games this season that were below par. He gained 12 yards against Hope, 20 against Camden Fairview, 33 against Ashdown, 25 against Gurdon and 46 against Sylvan Hills.

Hope, Fairview and Ashdown are Class AA schools and Sylvan Hills is a member of AAA. Gurdon threw a nine-man line at Prescott and the Curley Wolves responded by passing for more than 300 yards.

In seven games against teams on Prescott's level, Flemons has gained 702 yards in 70 carries.

"Our offensive line opens pretty good holes when they're blocking people their size," Montgomery said. He pointed out that Prescott had accumulated more than 1,900 yards rushing in 10 regular season games.

Flemons and friends will get another test this week when they take on unbeaten Greenwood in the second round of the playoffs.

Others who deserve mention: Joe Smith, Newport, carried 10 times for 140 yards and three touchdowns, including a 63-yard burst with 3:47 left in the game, as the Greyhounds rallied to edge Wynne 21-15 in the AA playoffs.

Southwest Conference statistics

Dallas (AP) — The Southwest Conference statistics give a good insight into why the Texas Longhorns have clinched a tie for the SWC title.

Fullback Roosevelt Leaks, the bruising leader of the Longhorn ground game, increased his rushing lead with a two-touchdown, 162-yard effort against Baylor last Saturday.

He's not averaging 117.3 yards per game rushing and he also leads in tandem offense, rushing and pass receiving, although he has only caught two passes. His average in that department is 120.3 yards per game.

Leaks also moved into a tie for second in scoring at 6.3 points per game behind the 8.3 average of Southern Methodist's Alvin Maxson.

Texas replaced Texas Tech as the total offense leader with 371.1 yards per game to 370.2. Texas also increased its rushing offense lead over Tech to 299.9 yards per game against 283.4 yards per contest for the Red Raiders.

The Texas offense is averaging a touchdown for every 26.3 offensive snaps.

Playoff sites announced

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sites for five of the six Arkansas high school football playoff games have been selected for Friday night.

In Class AA, Magnolia will play Sheridan at Arkadelphia and Harrison and Newport will meet at Conway.

In Class A, Prescott and Greenwood will play at Hot Springs. The site for the Marked Tree-Clarendon game has not been decided.

Conover certainly won't be looking at A&M's record. "They're young, but they've started to get together the last few weeks," he said.

Razorbaks prepare for SMU

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said Monday that the Southern Methodist Mustangs' running backs and split receivers are "the best" the Razorbaks will face since the Southern Cal game.

Arkansas plays SMU in Fayetteville Saturday afternoon. He also said SMU's defensive front four are as big as Southern Cal's.

Conover praised the Owls for the effort against Arkansas. "I've never been around a group of young men like these," Conover said. "They've had so many reasons to quit. But they didn't quit. They tried hard all the time."

The Owls travel to College Station this week to battle the revitalized Texas Aggies and

The best football team in the country is only No. 2 in the Associated Press college football poll, according to Alabama Coach Paul Bryant.

"The way I see it, the team that improves the most over a season should be No. 1," says Bryant. "And I think that we have improved tremendously."

Alabama, still second to Southern California in this week's poll, won the Southeastern Conference title Saturday with a 35-21 rout of sixth-ranked Louisiana State. Bryant thinks it proved something.

"It was a great win for a great football team against a great team," said Bryant, overflowing with superlatives.

Before Saturday's convincing victory over the Tigers, Bryant said he thought that perhaps Southern Cal and Michigan might be better than his team. But not now.

"The polls have not been important until now," said Bryant. "But with the season coming to an end, they become very important—especially at the top of the list. As I see it, there's plenty of room at the top for us."

Southern Cal, Alabama and Michigan, the only major teams with perfect records, remained 1-2-3 in the AP ratings, released Monday.

Pacesetter since the first week of the season, Southern Cal received 42 first-place votes and 984 points from a nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters. Alabama held onto second with five ballots for first place and 890 points. Michigan, the only other team to get first-place votes with three, was third on a total of 812 points.

Nebraska, most everyone's pre-season choice to maintain its No. 1 spot from last year, fell to fifth place as a result of Saturday's 23-23 tie with Iowa State. The Cornhuskers dropped out of the top spot after losing to UCLA on opening day.

Oklahoma, a 17-4 conqueror of Missouri this past weekend, rose from seventh to fourth. The rest of this week's Top Ten included: sixth ranked Penn State; seventh-ranked Texas; No. 8 Louisiana State; No. 9 Ohio State and No. 10 Notre Dame.

IF THERE IS a similarity in the styles of these two placekickers, it is more than coincidental. The man kicking a successful 37-yard field goal for Ashland (Ohio) College, above, is Jeff Groza. ## Longhorns: A study in black & white

By JACK KEEVER

and ROBERT HEARD

Associated Press Writers
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Some of the black football players at the University of Texas have a one-word explanation for why most good blacks go to schools other than Texas—money.

The Texas blacks are seniors Julius Whittier, Donald Ealey and Howard Shaw; junior Lonnie Bennett; and sophomores Roosevelt Leaks and Fred Perry.

Asked why the top blacks take their talents to other schools, Whittier said the only reason he could see was "some immediate benefit." Room, board, tuition and books are about the same everywhere, he said, so the only thing left is money.

Perry said he knew a black who went to the University of Houston because he got "a better deal."

What does that mean? "Knowing him," Perry said, "it meant money."

Bennett said he knew of a black who went to Oklahoma for that reason.

The Texas blacks agreed there was racism among the Longhorn coaches. They were asked how this manifests itself.

"Well, you know, they try to hide it, things like that," Leaks said. "You know, they don't want to show it."

He can't give specific examples, he said. He just has this feeling it's there.

Ealey broke in. "Could be that, I mean, they can't quite understand the black, you know, what really makes them tick, and how can you get the most out of them."

What might work with a white player, such as a bawling out for a mistake, might not work with a black, Ealey said. He spoke with much feeling.

Perry, too, was unable to cite an example of prejudice by the coaches. "It's real slight," he said. "Nothing out in the open. Just their over-all attitude."

Shaw also said he had run into prejudices from the coaches. "Well, like everybody, you know, everybody probably had a little experience, but just don't want to bring it up, you know, just let it go."

Do the blacks talk about it among themselves?

"Yeah," Shaw said, "everybody talks together. Blacks stick together, whites stick together."

Bennett had an example. He went to a basketball game last year and remained seated as the band played "The Star Spangled Banner" and "The Eyes of Texas."

"I don't know why ... I guess I was in a rebellious mood or something," he said. He said he saw some white players sitting, too.

The next day, one of the coaches said he wanted to talk to him, and another coach walked up "and he just started raving ... I didn't like that at all. He just kinda raved at me, and I thought, wow, you know, keep calm, cause, you know, if you blow up, no telling what the consequences ..."

If the white players also got chewed out, he never heard of it.

Bennett said rumors got started that he had joined the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) and that Black Panthers visited him.

A coach later told him he was scared to let Bennett escort a recruit because he might "put some ideas into his head," Bennett said.

The coaches called in Whittier and asked him why Bennett remained seated. It made Whittier mad. "You know, as though he had went out and shot somebody or something, you know?"

Whittier said he asked the coaches if they would be thrilled if they went to Texas Southern University (a mainly black school) and heard the school song.

"Would you get chill bumps if, uh, they started playing the national anthem and you went to a hamburger stand and they told you to go around the back door to pick up your order?" he asked them.

"... Since when have we seen, you know, orange (one of Texas' school colors) doing us a favor? Since when have we seen red, white and blue doing us a favor?" he said.

Is Royal prejudiced?

Whittier, sitting forward on a couch and slowly spinning a sofa pillow between his hands, paused for a moment. "Yeah," he said. "I think he is."

But he quickly qualified that judgment. Royal is from Hollis, Okla., he said, and to Whittier there's no difference between Hollis and "Shreveport, La." or "East Texas."

"And so, you know, he can't help but be what he is, from his surroundings ... But I think Coach Royal knows that racism is wrong. I don't think he wants to be," he said.

Asked how he explains Royal's coming over to Ealey and hugging and kissing his helmet after Ealey scored against Arkansas, Whittier said: "Who's this?"

"Royal."

"He did that?" Whittier asked.

Then Whittier recalled that after Eddie Phillips passed to Cotton Speyrer to beat UCLA in the final seconds in 1970, he jumped up on Royal, wrapped his legs around him and they shook each other's shoulders.

But that was spontaneous, and the act with Ealey came several seconds later, when the team was kicking the extra point.

"Yeah," Whittier mused. "Maybe he did it. Maybe it was a 'meditated act, you know? For him to get out of his racism he's gonna have to practice, you know ..."

Shaw suggested with a laugh that Royal was relieved that Ealey had not fumbled, as he did earlier this year. After the touchdown, he said, Royal did not have to be scared, and he could "show his emotion."

Surprisingly, they agreed there was little prejudice shown by the white players. Whittier suggested it was because of the "pliability of the youthful mind."

Leaks said he feels some prejudice, but said it comes from the lesser players on the attack team, not the guys who are really in competition for his job.

They agreed that yes, maybe Texas does recruit less aggressively than other schools, for white as well as black, because of its athletic tradition, its challenge to all players to come and prove they can make it with the best.

But since blacks have no tradition with Texas, no fathers that played here, no youthful memories of rooting for the Longhorns, the same recruiting techniques that win white players will fail with blacks.

And they want a black coach here the whole year. Texas assistant coach Alvin Matthews, a black, spends half the year in the Green Bay Packers' defensive backfield.

McNeill brothers: It's just a game

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The McNeill brothers try to beat each other Saturday in Memorial Coliseum but they call it just a football game with high stakes, not a civil war.

Rod McNeill, 6-foot-2, 218 pounds, is a tailback for the University of Southern California and brother Fred, an inch taller, is a 198-pound defensive end for archival UCLA.

They surprised themselves by choosing different schools and they live together about half way between the two campuses.

"We kid each other a lot," says Fred. "He makes statements like he's going to run me over when he comes around my end and I say I'm going to stop him."

Rod, a year older at 21, says, "I'm not going to try to think about running at my brother. If I do too much thinking, I'm not going to get too far. I'll do the best I can but I'll try not to think that he's my brother."

"When I'm running, I try not to hurt anybody but we're taught to punish tacklers, to give more than we receive. I've just got to try to keep emotions out of it."

"I haven't told him, 'No, you can't stop me,' but I have assured him it won't be an easy thing for him to do."

"I've seen him in films," says Rod. "He's pretty vicious out there. A defensive man has to be a virtual animal and it will be hard for him to think of me as his brother."

Fred says he won't let up when he sees Rod coming. "I heard a story of two brothers playing pro ball," says Fred. "One guy hit his brother and knocked him out. After recovering, he said it was just football and that he was proud of his brother. That's the way I'd feel."

UCLA's Bruins, 8-2, will try to destroy top-ranked USC's perfect 9-0 season and bid for a national championship, as well as take away from the Trojans the Pacific-8 title and rights to the Rose Bowl. The game, starting at 8 p.m., EST, will be televised nationally.

"There are very high stakes, of course, but we're going into it with the attitude that it's another day-to-day competition," says Rod. "When it's all over, one of us will pick up the other and give him free tickets to the Rose Bowl."

College football is a lark to 'Big Charley'

DALLAS (AP)—They call him "Big Charley" for obvious reasons and college football is a lark compared to supper time at a home when you're one of a family of 12.

Charley Davis is one of those quick giants from a small country town who always seem to wind up at Texas Christian. Anybody remember Bob Lilly of Throckmorton, Tex.?

Davis is from Wortham, Tex., where they play Class B football and go to bed a lot at sundown and get up at sunrise. He wears 14 EE shoes and towers 6-foot-2 and weighs 252 pounds. Nobody gave a dange about him but the Horned Frogs.

Now, he's the hottest defensive tackle in the Southwest Conference. Just ask Notre Dame or Texas Tech what they think of Davis.

Davis made 12 tackles, eight unassisted, and sacked Tech quarterback Joe Barnes three times for 29 yards in losses and a safety in TCU's 31-7 upset of the Red Raiders last Saturday. The performance earned him The Associated Press SWC Defensive Player of the Week award.

"He's the toughest guy I ever tried to block," remembers Tech running back Doug McCutcheon. "We were double teaming him and yet he was so quick and powerful he would fight off the block and still make the tackle."

Davis, only a junior, has been piling up an impressive list of credits.

Notre Dame offensive tackle John Dampeer, the team captain, said "Davis is the best tackle I've played against. I think I lost my personal war with him."

Davis, who likes to dress in flashy clothes, was offered a scholarship at TCU because Athletic Director Abe Martin was a good friend of a banker in Wortham, who even took the trouble to send Abe a game film.

Nobody else gave the business major a buzz. Now he's ringing some bells himself.

Frank Young, TCU's defensive coordinator, said "Davis had a great game against Tech. He got to the passer three times but forced Barnes to hurry his throws on numerous occasions and that is just as important."

Professional scouts parade to TCU's practices just to see Davis.

"They think he compares favorably with Lilly," said one TCU official.

Of course, Lilly, an All-American, went on to make All-Pro with the Dallas Cowboys.

Paul Hornung, the former Green Bay running back great, commented on the Notre Dame television network: "If Notre Dame picked an all-opponent team, Davis would be the first selection."

Davis was pleased that he had finally scored in football. He played linebacker and offensive guard in high school without making a point.

"I felt so good when I tackled Barnes in the end zone I wanted to take the ball away from him and spike it," Davis said.

Davis also disclosed that he was the runt of the family.

"Take my brother, Leon, for example, he's 6-foot-8, and 295," Davis said. "I didn't always get my way around the house."

Chamberlain shooting at new record

NEW YORK (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain, who holds the National Basketball Association record for field goal percentage, continues to outdo the field in that department again this year.

Chamberlain, who set the mark of .683 during the 1960-67 season, is currently shooting at .800 through games of Nov. 12, NBA statistics revealed Monday.

The Los Angeles Lakers center hit 10-of-12 shots last week to bring his season's total to 92 field goals in 115 attempts.

The big guy also made his presence felt in the rebounding race, taking over the No. 1 spot with an average of 18.5. He replaced Golden State's Nate Thurmond, who dropped to third.

Celtics win game by 2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Boston Celtics have reached the stage where even a no-count game seems important, but stiffer tests lie just around the corner.

All teams in the National Basketball Association and the American Basketball Association enjoyed a break in the schedules Monday night, but the Celtics and the Detroit Pistons kept busy.

A crowd of 8,804 turned out at the new Civic Center in Springfield, Mass., for the first Basketball Hall of Fame benefit game. The fans were rewarded with plenty as the Celtics rallied for a 119-117 exhibition victory.

The Celtics, who have won 13 of 14 NBA starts for the lead in the league's Atlantic Division, repeated their official 121-118 victory over the Pistons Saturday night at Boston Garden.

The game was strictly an exhibition, but there was some hot action. Detroit's Dave Bing suffered a three-stitch gash over his left eye in the first period, and Boston's Paul Silas and the Pistons' Willie Norwood exchanged punches without damage in the third quarter.

Dave Cowens led the Celtics with 27 points and 11 rebounds, while Jo Jo White contributed 20 points. John Mengelt of the Pistons topped all scorers with 28 points.

Hughes makes hockey debut

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Just about every pro team has a bench or farm team to turn to in the event of an emergency, but how many can dip into the front office for help?

That's what the Houston Aeros have done in activating goalie Bill Hughes, a former Michigan Tech star, for duty in the World Hockey Association.

Hughes turned in a spectacular job in his pro debut Monday night as the Aeros held on for a 4-4 tie with the New England Whalers before a Boston Garden crowd of 8,311.

It was the only game played in the WHA and the National Hockey League.

About a week ago, Hughes was working in the Aeros' front office, concentrating on club promotion and ticket sales.

However, Coach Bill Dineen knew Hughes was around.

With Don McLeod missing because of the death of his father in an auto accident and Wayne Rutledge injured, Dineen called upon Hughes to face the Whalers, who are in the thick of the East Division race.

"He did a great job, just outstanding," Dineen said after Hughes stopped 46 shots, including 14 in the 10-minute sudden death overtime featured by the WHA. "He'll see a lot more action with us."

The Aeros jumped to a 3-0 first-period lead on goals by Duke Harris, Murray Hall and Gordie Labossiere. Brian MacDonald hiked the count to 4-0 before the Whalers got going and struck for goals by Tom Webster and Tim Sheehy in the second period.

John French poked in a rebound for the Whalers at 15:16 of the third period and Sheehy, a former Boston College All-American, tied the count by converting a rebound from close-up with just one minute left in regulation time.

Then Hughes weathered the New England barrage in overtime.

John French poked in a rebound for the Whalers at 15:16 of the third period and Sheehy, a former Boston College All-American, tied the count by converting a rebound from close-up with just one minute left in regulation time.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

There are about 6,000-000 persons of the Jewish faith living in North America of which nearly one-third live in New York City. The World Almanac notes that the first Jewish community in North America was established in New Amsterdam in 1654 by 23 Jewish refugees who fled from Brazil after the Dutch lost it to the Portuguese.

NEW YORK (AP) — Norman Norell, Inc., the firm of the late designer, will continue in business with California-based designer Gustav Tassell as its new president.

Richard Dey Manning, attorney for Norell, made the announcement Monday. He said "Tassell was selected for his reputation for integrity of design and his serene purity of line."

Manning said Norell wanted the firm to continue and was working on a plan for perpetuity at the time of his stroke and subsequent death on October 26.

"We will continue to have the same quality of workmanship as Norell," said Tassell, 45, who will begin work in New York in December. "It will be Norell through and through."

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — As they lowered Harry Francis Nickels Jr., a few of his buddies leaned over and kissed his casket.

Nearly 150 came—Iron Horsemen, Rogues, Mesqueros, Barons of Earth and Hell's Angels—wearing their boots, jeans and sleeveless denim jackets.

A graveside wreath said, "In memory of Nick, Hell's Angels."

Nickels, a 39-year-old Iron Horseman, was killed last Thursday in a head-on motorcycle collision near Ramona.

As his friends left the funeral at Greenwood Memorial Park Monday, police pulled them over one by one for safety checks of their motorcycles.

Dr. Harris on council

Dr. Karlton H. Kemp of Texarkana and Dr. C. Lynn Harris of Hope are members of the Council of the Arkansas Medical Society which meets during the Society's Winter Meeting on Dec. 3 at Little Rock.

According to Dr. Robert Watson president of the 1600-member medical organization, Rep. Wilbur Mills will be the luncheon speaker. Mills will speak on the subject of national health insurance.

The Council functions as the executive branch of the House of Delegates and is composed of twenty physicians from the ten districts in the State as well as the state officers. Dr. C.C. Long of Ozark chairs the 25-member group.

The Council's general areas of concern are: ethics, negotiations with third parties such as government agencies and insurance companies, and whatever problems-conditions that may affect the practice of medicine and the welfare of their colleagues as well as the public.

As councilors, Drs. Kemp and Harris represent the thinking and wishes of the physicians in their councilor district to the State Society. The councilor district is comprised of Hempstead, Howard, Lafayette, Little River, Miller, Nevada, Pike, Polk, and Sevier counties.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

White vs. whole wheat

Which flour is more healthful?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Is it true that white flour, though enriched, contains but few of the vitamins and minerals present in whole wheat flour? Exactly how much difference in nutritional value is there between white enriched and whole wheat flour?

Dear Reader—There is not much difference. The white flour loses vitamins and natural elements in the milling process and for this reason it is enriched. The law requires this enrichment to bring it up to standards very nearly that found in whole wheat. Periodically the amounts are changed. The values for the principal vitamins and iron found in 3½ ounces of the two flours are:

Whole wheat—Thiamine, 55 milligrams; riboflavin, 12 milligrams; niacin, 4.3 milligrams; iron, 3.3 milligrams.

New bath house finished

Workmen recently completed construction on the new bathhouse at Fair Park. A federal grant for the construction of the pool facilities, including other improvements at the park, was approved last summer. Work on the interior of the structure continued this week, and new fencing will be put up in the near future.

CofC officers are guests at Rotary

Two members of the Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce, K. V. Browne, chairman of the board, and George Brewer, both of Little Rock, brought a program on Arkansas Highways to the Hope Rotary Club on Friday, Nov. 10, at a luncheon meeting in the Town and Country.

Browne, who is also chairman of the board of the Crow-Burlingame Company and served two terms as president of the state Chamber of Commerce, listed seven reasons why good roads are needed: to improve the competitive position of our state with other states; to develop industry; to increase real estate value; to attract tourists; to provide more tax revenue; to reduce operating cost; to increase safety.

"The Right (High) Way," a sound-color motion picture produced by the state Chamber of Commerce and Associated Industries of Arkansas, was shown by Mr. Brewer. It showed the stepped-up highway program in the state and the essential importance it is to Arkansas' economic growth and survival.

Donald Ogden was a guest from Hope High for the second week, and he introduced a classmate, Steve Campbell, a guest for the first time. President Bob Roberts introduced another guest, Wallis Monroe, and Albert Graves gave an official induction into the club to its newest member, Jimmy Lester, who was introduced at the last meeting.

'New Army' topic at Lions meeting

The "new army" was discussed Monday during the Lions luncheon meeting by Capt. James O'Herron of Little Rock.

The speaker was accompanied by Sgt. Kenneth Garner of Texarkana. Both of the military men are veterans of the war in Vietnam and are now engaged in recruitment.

Capt. O'Herron said that July 1, 1973 was the date ending the draft, as we now know it, and told of steps being taken to make the army more attractive toward an all volunteer force. To veterans of World War II

Screening of troops for gonorrhea is team suggestion

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A team of doctors has reported evidence suggesting that appreciable numbers of troops returning from Vietnam may have "silent" undetected gonorrhea that could have national implications unless the men are found and treated.

Indeed, the doctors told a scientific meeting Monday, it is possible that much of an already noted increasing resistance of gonorrhea germs in the United States to antibiotic wonder drugs has been due to "importation of resistant strains" by Vietnam returnees whose own transmissible infection was overlooked because they showed no symptoms.

The doctors recommended that all Vietnam returnees be screened by a new test they devised for diagnosing "silent" gonorrhea.

The doctors—of the University of Washington, Seattle, and the Army's Madigan General Hospital, Tacoma, Wash.—made their report to the centennial meeting of the American Public Health Association.

They did so in reporting evidence from limited studies of both civilians and military men that "asymptomatic" gonorrhea apparently is much more prevalent among males than previously thought. They defined asymptomatic gonorrhea as a gonorrhea infection which produces no symptoms in the male or female infected but may produce active disease if transmitted sexually.

The team, headed by Dr. H. Hunter Handfield of the University of Washington, said of the latter findings:

"Traditionally, it has been assumed that gonorrhea produces a symptomatic disease in men and (an) asymptomatic infection in women. This has produced the corollary assumption that the principal reservoir of gonococcal infection in the community is the silent female carrier. Consequently, a great deal of effort is expended toward tracing these asymptomatic women."

The doctors reported finding, by a special diagnostic test, a "high prevalence" of asymptomatic gonorrhea among a small group of civilian men known to have been exposed to infected women.

They also reported testing 2,000 Vietnam returnees who were undergoing routine physical examinations at Ft. Lewis, Wash., and at Madigan Hospital immediately prior to discharge from the Army.

And they said that of those who had had sexual exposure during their years in Vietnam—a number they did not specify—2½ per cent were found to be infected but showing no symptoms.

Declaring the germs uncovered from the men were relatively resistant to antibiotic ics, the doctors said: Even though no more than 7,000 men per year carrying gonococci would have returned from Vietnam during peak involvement the rapid spread of these organisms through the community would have been facilitated by their resistance to the antibiotic regimens (lower dose schedules) in use prior to this year...

PHOTOGRAPHER IS ARRESTED

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Don Woods, a photographer for KATV television here, was arrested Monday for taking pictures in the hallway leading to the federal courtroom where a hearing was in progress on the state's prison system.

U. S. District Court Judge J. Smith Henley, who was conducting the hearing, said Woods and the station management could expect to be held in contempt of court if the film was shown.

Jim Pitcock, KATV news director, said the film had not and would not be used.

A federal regulation prohibits the use of cameras in courtrooms and its environs and allows local judges to define what the environs are. Henley had defined it as the courtroom and corridors adjacent to the courtroom.

Opposition to new law is certain

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new law regulating campaign finances, fresh from its first election-year test, faces sure-fire attempts to roll back its key reform provisions early in the next Congress.

A key target is expected to be a provision banning indirect contributions by government contractors.

The Federal Elections Campaign Act, which limits the amount candidates for Congress and president can spend on advertising and requires full reporting of the sources and uses of campaign funds, was passed by Congress last January.

But during the closing days of Congress, efforts were made to salvage affiliated political funds, a ploy used by big corporations and labor unions to contribute to political campaigns.

These gifts are virtually outlawed under the out-of-court settlement last summer of a lawsuit by Common Cause against one of the funds. Attempts at repealing the section on which the suit was based failed only after Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., threatened a filibuster.

But both sides expressed the certainty that the battle would be resumed in the new year.

Other efforts are expected to try to reduce the number of reports candidates are required to file on their gifts, to eliminate reports in off-years and to strike the requirement that reports include the occupation and business address of each donor.

The new rules brought some howls during their first testing this fall from those who thought they were too restrictive.

The affiliated political funds brought the loudest complaints. These funds are built from collections taken by corporations and unions from their employees or members and given out by the company or union to candidates who can help

No tinsel for Yule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration says that "not a single strand" of lead Christmas tree tinsel should be found on store shelves this Yule season.

"It's gone. We have assurances that not one ounce will be sold this year," said Malcolm "Mac" Jensen, director of FDA's Bureau of Product Safety.

Last Christmas the agency was accused of agreeing secretly with several lead tinsel manufacturers not to publicize an understanding that production would stop Jan. 1, 1972, but sales could continue through the 1972 Christmas season.

Jensen denies it.

"There was never any effort to hide it," he said in an interview. "The decision was made internally not to publicize it because we feared that many people preferring the lead variety would stockpile it."

After the charges of secret-dealing surfaced, Jensen said, "We got back to the industry and said, 'You haven't got a saleable product anymore. You might as well get out of the lead business.'"

At the same time, he said, the FDA asked customs agents to freeze any lead tinsel imports.

The FDA campaign is based on persuasion of manufacturers and importers following a conclusion by FDA in August 1971 that lead tinsel was an unnecessary risk to children with symptoms of lead poisoning. No absolute ban was imposed, Jensen said, for lack of medical verification to declare lead tinsel a "health hazard."
